Student at Western Carolina University

(Cullowhee, N.C.) Student at Western Carolina University is starting an HIV/AIDS prevention campaign.

A statement from interim Chancellor Alison Morrison-Shetlar “I think it is wonderful that a student here cares for the freshmen that are coming into a new world and to be welcomed with help that is provided by this upper classman is remarkable”.

A condom drive for all the incoming freshmen so that if they have sex it is safe sex. Giving away free condoms is such a good opportunity to tell kids about how safe sex is the best way so you can't catch any infections.
